Foreword

As the end of the school year quickly approaches, so approaches the end of Barton Academy's function as a high school. Yet the impressions which it has made upon the lives of its graduates will endure for many years to come.

The members of the class have worked together to present what we hope is a successful yearbook. Being the last year of Barton Academy, we have tried to present a picture of the school's past and its present. Its future will continue as the class of 1967 takes "Another Step Forward."

Superintendent's Message

As the final year of Barton Academy comes to a close, a feeling of sadness, as well as happy and pleasant memories, cannot be avoided in the hearts of the many students and teachers who have passed through its' portals.

Yet, true happiness comes to those who are ever seeking, ever moving forward. The challenge of the future is to bring success to our new school for all of the communities of the Lake Region.

Principal's Message

One year out of one hundred fifteen years is not very many. This is my net result as a direct citizen of Barton Academy. Most of you as members of the Class of 1967 have been citizens four times as long. This will also be the only high school that many of you have attended while others came here the same as I, to become a part of a great school.

In reality Barton Academy will cease to exist on July 1, 1967. In our memories Barton Academy will always exist.

The tradition of Barton Academy has been built to the level that has brought pride to all who have walked her hallowed halls and who have carried her message to all parts of the world. She has brought honor and respect to all who have served her and to all who have come to her for learning and guidance. She has been a beacon for the unforeseen future toward which we all travel day by day.

We, the staff of Barton Academy, who have served her for one hundred fifteen years hope that we have in some small way given to you, who have come to her in search of truth and knowledge, a little beam of light from her beacon to help you. If we have been able to do this, then we have succeeded. If we have not done this, then we have failed. I hope that over the years the successes have out-numbered the failures.

May God Bless you and be with you in whatever you do and wherever you go. And may you keep in a corner of your heart, a memory of Barton Academy.

History Of Barton Academy

1852-Barton High School

The first school in Barton began in 1801 when Miss Marion Darling of Wheelock was employed as a teacher for the families of James May, Jonathan Allyn, and Stephen Dexter. She taught during the three summer months, staying with each family for one month.

In 1802, Mrs. Lee taught school in the home of James May. In the summer of 1803, school was located in a barn on the Barton property and was taught by Miss Abigail Chamberlain. The winter term of 1803-4 was taught by Silas Albee in David Abbot's two-room house.

The first actual school in Barton was located on what we now call Lincoln Avenue. Later the location changed to the Norris house on High Street. It was a one-room schoolhouse.

In 1852, we first hear of Barton High School, located on the northwest corner of the present playground. There were two rooms; one for the primary and one for the high school. Old box stoves heated the rooms and janitor work was done by the students.

Records of that year show an enrollment of sixty-five high school students, and forty-two grade school students. Students were classified as "Gentlemen Students" or "Lady Students". Due to the fact that there existed no laws as to attendance or required subjects, the pupils came when they wished and chose their own subjects. Mr. John Graham was principal and sole teacher of the high school for the first two years of its existence. In 1854, the school was incorporated by law. Section 76 of the state laws of 1854 says, "There is hereby constituted and established a high school to be located in Barton in the county of Orleans, to be known and called the 'Barton Academy'." A board of trustees, consisting of between ten and twenty members, was established. During the first two years of its incorporation, D. D. Hanson acted as principal. The attendance was less than in 1852, perhaps because of the opening of other high schools in nearby towns.

The catalogue of 1854 stated, "Public Declamation is required from all gentlemen once in two weeks. Beginners, however, may declaim in private if they prefer".

"All students are required to write Compositions once a fortnight."

"There are two Literary Societies connected with the school: The Barton High School Lyceum and the Ladies' Literary Society, both of which are regulated by a constitution and by-laws and have for their object to afford their members the best opportunity to acquire correct habits in deportment and literary performance."

"Demerits resulting from unexcused absence from church upon the Sabbath, from recitations, tardiness and disorderly conduct will also be noted and read at the close."

No student was allowed to advance to the higher courses of instruction until he had fully mastered common English.

Between 1855 and 1863, we had two prominent principals. Mr. G. W. Quimby, a Colonel in the Civil War, and the G.A.R. Post was named the Quimby Post in his honor. The other, Mr. John Kimball, was born and brought up in Barton. He is one of the few ministers the town ever produced.

In 1863, S. B. Mussey acted as Principal. Courses offered that year included Philosophy, History, Mathematics, Latin, Greek, English, and French. Tuition ranged from $3 to $8, depending on the courses you studied. Room and board was available at $3 a term.

From 1876-1880, Miss Emelie M. Gleason was Principal of Barton Academy. By this time, the Academy students were enrolled separately. Two courses, English and English Classical, were offered.

For the next five years Ernest C. Benjamin was chosen Principal, followed by Thomas Martin, who remained until 1892. When Mr. Martin came to the Academy, the attendance numbered forty-eight, but by 1886, only sixteen were enrolled.

In 1885, the small, story-and-a-half building, surrounded by a picket fence, was remodeled and moved back from the road. A furnace was installed and a story was added.

In 1886, the state legislature incorporated school district #1, with Barton Academy, using Barton village as a basis. That same year the first commencement exercises were held. Before this time there had been no actual graduation services. The first graduating class consisted of four pupils; Leon White, Will Hibbard, Henry Young, and Edie Dewey.

The Academy now classified its pupils as Senior class, Middle class, Junior class, and unclassified students.

In 1888 there were fifty-one pupils enrolled. There were also three terms; fall, winter, and spring. School began in August and let out for Fair Week in September. In the spring school let out in early May.

One of the regulations listed in the 1888 yearbooks stated, "The following basis and rule is adopted for marking pupils: 100, perfect; 90, good; 80, fair; 70, unsatisfactory; 60 puts on probation for next four weeks; below 50 puts in the next grade below."

In 1892, C. H. Willey became Principal for one year. Repairs were made on the building. Forty-one pupils out of a total of one hundred ninety-four were high school students.

In 1893, H. J. Stannard began a twenty-one year term as Principal. During his first year, a school library was established with all the books catalogued. A change in curriculum was made and more emphasis was placed on mathematics.

From the regulations listed in the catalogue of 1894, we find that reports pertaining to attendance, deportment, and scholarship were sent home to the parents each month.

For the first time in the Academy's history, a teacher to assist the Principal was hired. This was in 1896 and students were divided into the four classes they are today.

From the catalog of 1896, we learn that an Alumni Association was formed. The number of students graduated from Barton Academy since the first graduation services was forty-three. That year there were forty-seven pupils at our high school, thirty-four of which were non-residents.

The calendar for this year was longer too. School was in session until June instead of May.

In 1902, Mr. Erwin was hired due to the interest in boys' sports. Under him a good ball team was formed.

There was also interest in basketball, but after awhile interest diminished. Football was too expensive, and there was no adequate place to play basketball; nor were there many other teams to compete with.

In 1908, the present building was opened to students. The previous school, now the gymnasium, was moved to its present location across the street. It was remodeled to serve as a center for social activities. That same year Mr. Erwin returned from a teaching position at Orleans High School to become vice-principal, in which position he stayed until 1912.

When Mr. Stannard had been Principal for eighteen years, Barton Academy was approved by the New England College Entrance Certificate Board.

Activities steadily increased. Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs and an orchestra were formed and concerts were given for the public.

Mr. Bates succeeded Mr. Stannard in 1914. Under him a course in teacher training was offered, but as few people took the course, it was later abandoned.

In 1914, Mr. Merrill became Principal. A new marking system was established to comply with the state plan of grading Junior-Senior high schools. In 1920, paintings were bought to be hung in the school. Another renovation which was made was that violin lessons were offered. Mr. Richards from St. Johnsbury came weekly to give them. Also for the first time, the Home Economics department served hot lunches at noon.

During that year basketball was revived and the baseball team numbered its share of victories. A tennis club was organized for the first time.

In 1918, George Stevens took the job of Principal, and in 1920 Mr. Meacham replaced him. He remained in the position until 1926.

In the past few years new activities have been engaged in. Students of the past three years have enjoyed successful winter carnivals. In 1965 a National Honor Society charter was granted to Barton Academy. The Chapter is named after Prof. Pierce, who served faithfully for so many years.

Barton Academy graduates have achieved many high honors and we have great expectations for this class of 1967 which is comprised of thirty-four. Certainly all of the graduates can say "The days we spent together here we gladly will call back, and hail with pride our colors fair, the orange and the black."

Barton Academy Trophy Case

This trophy case contains a few of the many trophies which our school has been awarded. Sports events have been a highlight at Barton Academy for many years and the students have achieved the name "champions" frequently.

Down through the years, students have engaged in many different sports. Some didn't stay with us long because of gradual slackening of interest, poor facilities, expense, or the lack of opposing teams.

In 1926 and 1927, softball and volleyball teams were organized and a tennis court and skating rink were opened in the 1930's. Another game which was later enjoyed was ping pong.

Some of these sports remain with us today. Softball and baseball are played, as well as soccer and basketball. Outdoor winter activities include skating and skiing. The skating rink and ski tow are open to the public.

In the fall, our boys start practicing soccer, as they have since 1959, to compete with other members of the Northern Border League. Although we have never won the league championship, we have gone three times to the state play-offs and advanced to the quarter-finals in the fall of this year.

Both the girls and boys enjoy playing basketball, an ever-popular sport and a game which has been played for a long time at Barton Academy. The competition has been tough, but Bartonians have won the title of "League Champions" many times and the boys have gone on to the State play-offs. The trophies are proof that we won the League trophy many times, ten times within the last seventeen years. The Yellow Perils have also gone on to state play-offs on numerous occasions, where they've gone all the way to the top in their class.

This year's Northeast Conference Tourney was the Twentieth Annual School Tournament. During the past twenty years, Barton's basketball club has won its share of the honors.

In the school year beginning in 1951, the girls organized a club, which was the first one in twenty years. Since then the girls, too, have captured their league trophy.

Barton Academy has also seen its share of trophies from softball and baseball. Our teams have captured the league trophies as well as gone on to state play-offs.

For these reasons, Bartonians are, and rightfully should be, proud of the trophy case which holds precious relics of the fun and honors of the past.

On lookers at ceremony

Alma Mater

Where crystal streams are flowing
 And grand hills watch it o'er
 Staunch stands our school thus guarded;
 Our pride forever more.
 We say with love and loyalty,
 "We come from old B. A."
 We're proud to own our heritage
 And honor it today.

All praise to those whose vision
 Looked down the years afar.
 And gave to us our high school
 To be our guiding star!
 The days we spend together here
 We gladly will call back,
 And hail with pride our colors fair,
 The Orange and the Black.

O Barton! Alma Mater,
 Thy children 'round thee stand;
 Like towers and mighty bulwarks,
 They rise on every hand.
 Thy strength shall be their strong defense,
 Thy sons shall rise to fame,
 Thy daughters bless the earth and pay
 Fair homage to thy name.

The Student Council started its very successful year by amending the school's constitution to allow equal representation for all classes.

During the sports seasons it arranged for buses to go to soccer and basketball tournament games. The council also successfully sponsored dances after home basketball games on Fridays and sold very attractive pennants.

The most important event sponsored by the organization was the Winter Carnival held during the week of February 20-24. Contests were held in basketball, volleyball, bowling, skiing and skating. The trophy, which was given on the basis of class competition, was awarded to the class of 1967. At the carnival dance Patty Lowe and Bob Boisvert were crowned queen and king.

The Student Council wishes to express its thanks to Mr. O'Brien, the faculty advisor, for his assistance during the year.
